Judson Culter, CEO at Rover Metals, states “Rover Metals operates in a prolific mining jurisdiction in the southern Northwest Territories (“NT”). Three weeks ago, our neighbour, Fortune Minerals (TSE:FT), announced its intent to acquire a refinery location north of Edmonton, AB. The infrastructure needed to bring the NT’s next gold mine into production, looks to soon be in place. The proposed location for Fortune’s NICO processing facility is located 40km northwest of Rover’s Cabin Gold Project, along the recently constructed Tlicho All Season Road (“TASR”). TASR opened to the public in November 2021. Rover plans to send samples of its drill core, from its Cabin Gold Project, to the lab for metallurgic testing in H1 of this year. The goal of the testing will be to determine the recovery flotation rates for the ore at Cabin. The next step, after receiving the metallurgical results, would be to work with Fortune to determine the possible economics of a processing agreement.

Winter Phase 3 Exploration, at our Cabin Gold Project, is expected to commence soon. The Company will be issuing an updating release in the coming days.”
